Wilson Wyatt To Be Principal Speaker At Barbecue and Democratic Rally Tuesday

Victory Smiles And A New Machine

And it's a huge turn-out of voters that these five persons in the two photographs hope for in the November election. In the photo at left County Campaign Chairman, J. C. Bondurant tells the photographer "you simply pull the lever and the voting's over." Looking on is Mrs. C. H. McDaniel, Fulton City Chairwoman for the local campaign. In the picture at the right Mrs. Mary Alice Coleman points to the Democratic roster on the voting board as Julius Falkoff, Hickman city chairman (left) and Hugh Fly Fulton City Chairman anticipate a lusty crowd for victory.

Wilson W. Wyatt, a candidate for the United States Senate, has accepted an invitation to be the principal speaker at a big barbecue and fund-raising rally in his honor on Tuesday, October 2. Mr. Wyatt's campaign headquarters informed the News on Wednesday morning that the candidate has re-arranged his schedule in order to appear at the dinner to be held at the Fulton Ball Park. Meanwhile Fulton and Hickman County Democratic leaders are making elaborate plans to accommodate more than 2000 persons at one of the largest Democratic rallies ever held in this section.

Plans are in the making for a huge motorcade to tour Fulton and Hickman counties on Saturday to have persons take a good look at the color television set that will be given away to some lucky ticket-holder the night of the event. Charles Andrews and his Melody Men will furnish the music for the large crowd in a whoop and holler gathering intended to bring out a record vote for the Democratic candidate on November 6.

Also at the ball park will be one of Fulton County's new voting machines. Judge of the County Court J. C. Bondurant advised that arrangements will be made for voters to see a working demonstration of the new machine. The machines will be used for the first time in the general election in November.

Tickets to the barbecue dinner are being sold by many Democratic campaign workers at $1.00 each. A heaping plate of barbecue and all the trimmings will be served beginning at five o'clock in the afternoon. This early hour affords parents and children to be served so that there will be no interference with the regular activities of a school night.

Tuesday night a large group of interested Democrats attended an organization meeting in Hickman to hear State Representative Julian Carroll give a report on the state-wide campaign activities. The McCracken County attorney praised the enthusiastic efforts of the local group for their work in the interest of Mr. Wyatt's candidacy and predicted that the First District will give Mr. Wyatt a majority of more than 30,000 votes.

A host of state-wide Democratic dignitaries have been invited to the event and reports indicate that former Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waters, former Governor Lawrence Wetherby may be in attendance.

Judge Bondurant is Fulton County's chairman for the Democratic campaign. He is being assisted by Hugh Fly, Fulton city chairman and Julius Falkoff, Hickman city chairman.

Mrs. Ward Bushart is Fulton County campaign chairwoman. Her co-workers are Mrs. C. H. McDaniel, Fulton city chairman and Mrs. Fred Stokes, Jr., Hickman city chairman.

The purpose of this group is to promote the university's athletic program and to work closely with the undergraduate K Club on the campus.

Brady Retires, Amberg To Be Hired; City Makes Major Move Towards Economy

Ernest Brady, Fulton's street superintendent, will retire from that position this week-end and the position will be abolished in the first major economy move in the city's expenditures. City Manager James Robey announced today. Mr. Brady's duties will be filled from a general labor pool in the maintenance department, under the direction of W. D. Powers, general superintendent. The abolishment of the street superintendent's job will affect a saving of $3300 per year. At the same time Mr. Robey announced that Brantley Amberg, a Hickman attorney, is scheduled to be named city attorney at the regular Commission meeting on Monday. Mr. Amberg will handle all legal affairs of the city, including criminal prosecution, at a salary of $325.00 a month.

Prior to Mr. Amberg's employment the Commission had retained the services of Attorney Farlin Robbins of Mayfield at $200.00 monthly to handle all general legal matters and Attorney James Warren to handle criminal prosecution, at $100.00 per month. However, under the arrangement extra fees were to be paid for any litigation in which the City was involved.

No Agreement In View On Paying Engineer's Fee

Only a few days remain before the deadline given Fulton by South Fulton to pay an $8400 engineering fee, which the Tennessee city claims is due them as part of a sewage disposal plant study. Fulton has until Tuesday, October 2. South Fulton plans to sue to recover the portion it says Fulton owes.

Meanwhile the News learned on press day (Wednesday) that officials of the two cities are no nearer to an out of court settlement than they have been.

Mayor Milton Counce of South Fulton has indicated $5000 as a reasonable settlement. Fulton Commissioner Bill Rice has suggested $4000; Mayor Gilbert DeMyer has proposed $2000, but both proposals were voted down by the City Commission.

It is reliably reported that some members of the Fulton City Commission are opposed to any settlement. Previous city officials are divided in their opinions as to Fulton's obligation to pay.

Brantley Amberg, due to be appointed Fulton City Attorney Monday is reported to be studying a legal opinion of the matter to present to the Commission at its regular meeting on Monday night.

Twin Cities Proud Of Its Population Explosion With New Neighbors

By KAREN DUBLIN

Fulton is a growing community! This is surely evidenced by the large number of new families that have made the Kentucky town and its Tennessee neighbor, South Fulton, their new home this summer. We are always glad to welcome each of these new families to town and we hope that they will make their stay here a long and happy one.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Ray Wilson and their three sons are the newest-comers to our town. They moved from Martin, Tennessee, and have bought a home in Highlands on Sixth Street. Both are employed by the Henry T. Siegel Company here. Their children are Johnnie Ray, 6, Billie Gene, 4, and David Lee, 16 months. They are Primitive Baptist by faith.

Norman White, the new Minister of Music at the First Baptist Church, brought his wife and children here about two weeks ago. They are living at 1011 Fifth Street in the Highlands. The little boys are Curt, 3, and David, 9 months. Mr. White recently completed a tour of active duty with the Army Reserve.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Patrick moved here this month from Memphis, Tennessee. They have two children, a boy, 7, and a little girl, 2. Their son is in the second grade at Carr Institute. Making their home at 216 Fourth Street, Mr. Patrick is a Sales Representative for St. Joe Paper Company.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Henne, Forestdale, South Fulton, are new-comers from Jackson, Tennessee. He is an electrician for the Illinois Central Railroad. They are members of the Baptist Church.

Formerly a teacher at Fort Knox, Charles Cooper has taken over the math department at Fulton High School. He and Mrs. Cooper and their six-year-old daughter, Deborah, have moved into their new home on 417 Laurel. Deborah is in her first year of school at Carr Institute. They belong to the Methodist Church.

David Eugene, 10, and Beverly Gayle, 4, are the children of August-comers, Mr. and Mrs. David O. Pounders. They are making their home at 416 Pearl Street. The family moved here from Corinth, Mississippi.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie McConnell are newly-weds as well as new-comers. They were married in early August and moved here where she is the first-grade teacher at Carr Institute. Mr. McConnell is employed in his wife's hometown, Union City. He is originally from Troy, Tennessee.

An employee of Taylor Chevrolet, J. D. Campbell moved his family here from Clinton in the early part of August. Mrs. Campbell and her 19-year-old son are both employed at Siegel. Another son, Larry, 14, and a daughter, Sue, 16, are also living with the family in Fulton. They are Baptists.

The new Fulton City Manager, James B. Pugh, and his family have been in Fulton for over a month now. They came here from Frankfort, Kentucky. The two boys, Eric, 5, and David, 1 1/2, are enjoying their new home and friends on Court Drive. They belong to the Catholic Church.

Another new family on Court Drive is the Ted Simmons family. He is the new Scout Executive for the Four Rivers Council with his headquarters here in Fulton. They are Baptists.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Cook and their son, Jim, 8, moved here recently from Memphis. They are making their new home at 907 Walnut and are members of the Church of Christ. Mr. Cook works at the Ferry-Morse Seed Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Snow came to Fulton from Selmer, Tennessee, although they are originally from Carothersville, Missouri. They have one child, little Lisa, who is 14 months old. Mr. Snow is the new technician at Hillview Hospital. They are Baptist by faith.

Thomas Hughes is an employee at Piggly Wiggly in South Fulton. He, his wife, and three children now live at 305 Theford in Fulton. (Continued on page five)

Jottings
From

Lo's
Note Book

It is possible that you might have overlooked making some kind of important observance of the event, but this is National Dog Week. If you are a top-dog, an under-dog, a cur dog, or a hot-dog, it is time for the spotlight to shine on all the 343,700 canine residents of Kentucky. Figures for Tennessee were not readily available. If you must know, I'll see what I can do about getting the exact number of dogs in that State for you.

There was a time when, to say a person led a dog's life, was to mean that the individual really had a hard way to go. Today, when you use the phrase, you'd better start looking for the guy with the four-car garage. A dog's life is getting so close to being far above the human average it's a real distinction to say you're in the dog-house.

Dogs are getting so smart that they have hired a public relations firm to look after their interests. Carl Boyer and Associates of Chicago sent us a special release this week telling all about the dog (oops he called it canine) population in Kentucky. From the statistics quoted in that release it looks mighty like we're going to change our mode of living at Westwood and watch the dogs, instead of them watching us.

I'm going to print that release today, but not before I warn you to be careful how you t-a-l-k (spell it) in front of the d-o-g-s (spell it) or you'll be out in the cold before you know it. Just look here what Carl Boyer says. (Incidentally he's the world's largest public relations firm, who else would a dog get?)

Kentucky's 295,000 dog-owning families spend about $2,832,000 each year for the purchase, care and feeding of pet dogs (including more than $198,000 on medical care alone), according to a leading producer of veterinary medical equipment. And the state's animal hospitals approach human clinics in many of the facilities and services offered.

Increased concern for pet health, a growing phenomenon in recent years, follows a national pattern which has led U. S. owners to spend about $40 million yearly on medicines and veterinary services.

Pet food outsells baby food, two to one, and the country's 5,000 pet dealers do a brisk trade in accessories, shampoos, cosmetics, hearing aids, plush kennels, electric blankets and even battery-powered lighted collars for night wear.

Pet tranquilizers are obtainable by prescription. These "happy pills" curb excessive whining and barking, prevent air and car sickness and keep a high-strung pooch from chasing his tail or nipping the postman.

A Community Center, With Federal Aid, May Be Possible If Local Groups Join In The Effort

The intention of Governor Bert Combs and Lieutenant Governor Wilson Wyatt to take every possible step to insure maximum benefit in the development of the most needed local facilities under the new Public Works Program has allowed the Area Redevelopment Council of Kentucky to set up special action in Kentucky, even in advance of the Federal Program.

The City of Fulton has already made strides in securing possible funds from the $900,000,000.00 appropriation to help defray the cost of the sewage disposal system planned for the city. The Federal program appears to be rather expansive in the programs for community development and now is the time for local civic leaders and elected officials to join in mapping plans to investigate the channels by which some of these funds can be used locally.

Our first thought is the possibility for getting funds for a community center, long wanted and long needed, not only in Fulton, but in the Fulton area. The establishment of a full scale tourist and information center to serving the border entrances into the city seems a good idea, too. It is our understanding that as long as the project can produce jobs and add to the betterment of community facilities, that funds might be available.

John Whisman, special assistant to Governor Combs in the Area Redevelopment Council says that procedures have been worked out through Robert Matthews, Commissioner of Finance and James Nutter, Commissioner of Commerce, to utilize their personnel in the primary work on the program in Kentucky.

In a memo to Kentucky County and Municipal officials and members of the Area Program Councils, Mr. Whisman said:

"Robert Cornett, Director of the Division of the Budget, is concentrating on expediting state agency projects and Walter Shouse, Director of Planning and Zoning, will expedite direct information and assistance to counties and communities participating in the program.

The question has been raised as to whether it is appropriate to encourage activity prior to the final approval of an appropriation by Commerce.

To make sure you understand our position, let me point out that:

(1) At this time there is no appropriation and there are no official forms or procedures for action in the program.

(2) The work that we are doing is based on the assumption that there will be an appropriation and program. We are encouraging every action that can be taken in that light (as in my notes of the past few days) but we are not encouraging communities to expend funds or make major commitments that would be unwise in the face of the risk of no appropriation.

(3) We want to be sure that local officials know what kind of projects can benefit; what general steps are to be taken; and are able to take as many preliminary steps as possible in order to be in the most complete status of qualification possible upon enactment of the program.

The principal purpose of this memo is to cite for you the local office from which you can obtain the best possible information as it becomes available. By virtue of arrangements with the Department of Commerce indicated above, PERSONNEL OF THE AREA OFFICES OF THE DIVISION OF PLANNING AND ZONING WILL HAVE FULL INFORMATION AS RAPIDLY AS WE CAN MAKE IT AVAILABLE THROUGH THEM, AND WILL WORK DIRECTLY WITH YOU ON THE DETAILS OF PROJECT APPLICATIONS. A LIST OF THE AREA OFFICES OF THE DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE, with the personnel of those offices and the counties which are served by those offices, IS ATTACHED FOR YOUR USE.

In addition, since the program will be administered in the federal government by the Area Redevelopment Administration, YOUR AREA FIELD COORDINATORS IN KENTUCKY WILL PROVIDE YOU WITH INFORMATION AND ASSISTANCE. (William L. Davis, ARA Coordinator for Central Kentucky, 326 W. Main Street, Frankfort, Kentucky; William Glasscock, ARA 2813 Fort Campbell Blvd., Hopkinsville, Kentucky; H. H. Smith, Jr., ARA Eastern, Kentucky Hindman, Kentucky.)

A Lady From Boston Enriched Kentucky

When she came to the mountains of Kentucky for her health in 1916, Mrs. Alice Spencer Geddes Lloyd of Boston found both challenge and opportunity. She was appalled to find that in her mountain area only two persons in a hundred could read. She determined to do something about it.

Starting with a one-room shack of a school, within seven years she—her Caney Creek Community Center in Knott County—could boast of three: grade school, high school, junior college. And in the ensuing decades this dedicated woman, a Radcliffe College alumna and former Boston newswoman, found her great happiness in the education of thousands of mountain people—teachers, principals, doctors, lawyers, engineers—most of whom, under the "unwritten pledge" of Pippapass, remained in or returned to the mountains to pay for their tuition with a continuous contribution of educated leadership.

In 1916 few would have predicted that Mrs. Lloyd, partially paralyzed as she had been in childhood, would have reached the age of 86.

Ever fewer would have predicted that her determination and her talent for winning contributions to her initial "settlement" work and its expansion would so greatly enrich not only her life but Kentucky's as well.

—Courier-Journal

Early in September Mrs. Lloyd died in her beloved Caney Creek Community Center. It was her wish that she be buried as soon after her death as possible on a hillside at Pippapass, a settlement she named from a passage in the Bible. Her wish was carried out to the letter, with such detail that many of the students she taught were unable to attend the services because of the short time that elapsed between her passing and her burial.

But it was not necessary for those students to attend the last rites for Alice Lloyd. For the memory of her guiding spirit will be with them for all of their lives. Except for her vision and courage there still would be darkness along the search for learning in those remote Kentucky mountains.

100 Years Ago This Week

An historical review of the Civil War day by day in Kentucky, as reviewed by the Kentucky Civil War Commission.

By JOE JORDAN

(Kentucky Civil War Commission)

One hundred years ago this week, a Confederate army under Gen Braxton Bragg and a Union army under Major Gen. Don Carlos Buell were poised in southern Kentucky for what appeared likely to develop into a race for Louisville. Bragg was somewhat nearer to the Falls of the Ohio, having marched across the state line from Tennessee after causing Buell to fall back on Nashville in a mistaken belief that the Tennessee state capital was the Confederate objective.

By September 12 Buell perceived that Nashville was not going to be attacked and by September 14 he had reached Bowling Green and turned toward Munfordsville, where a Federal garrison was threatened by the Confederate advance. Col. Joseph ("Fighting Joe") Wheeler interposed his Confederate cavalry on the road from Bowling Green to Munfordsville and slowed Buell's advance.

Brig. Gen. James Ronald Chalmers, commanding a Confederate brigade, attacked Munfordsville the same day (14th), having been misinformed concerning the strength of the garrison and the character of the defensive works. The post was commanded by Col. J. T. Wilder of the 17th Indiana, whose force consisted of four regiments of infantry, a battery and several detachments, aggregating about 4000 men. Chalmers, who had only 1913 men, attacked vigorously but was repulsed. He lost 35 killed and 253 wounded.

Gen. Bragg, hearing about Chalmers' attack and Buell's movements, on September 15 moved out of Glasgow, where the Confederates had been resting two days, and took the road to Munfordsville.

Thus, as the week under review ended, both Bragg's army and Buell's were headed toward Munfordsville, with the Confederates nearer to it and with the Federals seriously hampered by Wheeler's cavalry.

Major Gen. William Nelson, who had been wounded August 30 in the Battle of Richmond when his Federal Army of Kentucky had been defeated and scattered by Major Gen. Edmund Kirby Smith's Confederate troops, was in command at Louisville and was working feverishly to whip green troops into shape and to have intrenchments dug. However, it was generally conceded that he could not long defend the city against Braxton Bragg's combat-tested veterans if Bragg beat Buell to the Falls City.

Volunteer militia of Ohio and Indiana were pouring into Cincinnati and streaming across a bridge laid on a line of barges to Covington and Newport, which for several days had been menaced by a division of Kirby Smith's army on the outskirts of Covington. The Confederates began a slow withdrawal in obedience to orders.

The Rev. John G. Fee, an abolitionist who for years had been a troublesome figure in Kentucky politics, was taken across the Ohio River by Bracken County citizens, set free on the Ohio side, and warned that he would be hanged if he returned to Bracken County. Those who expelled him from the state were the Union men of the county.

Campaign Buttons Date Back To Days Of Alexander The Great!

Americans are sprouting the most ubiquitous of all political insignia—the campaign button!

The red-white-and-blue lapel pins spell out the preferences of an estimated 45 million voters who will elect 435 United States Representatives and 38 Senators on November 6.

For the first time in an off-year election, Maine will go to the polls with the rest of the nation. Before 1960, the bellwether state held elections in September, an exception granted in earlier days when bad roads and snow prevented farmers from getting to the polls in late fall.

Now abounding, the blizzard of buttons, banners, and billboards, so characteristic of the American political scene, is an age-old phenomenon, says the National Geographic Society.

Banners waved in ancient Athens. Supporters of Roman candidates scrawled slogans on stone road markers, anticipating the highway billboard by 2,000 years.

Campaign buttons go back at least to the reign of Alexander the Great in the 4th century B. C. The Macedonian ruler sent silver buttons to constituents, promising the ancient equivalent of a New Deal.

When the Byzantine Empire ruled much of the Western World, men in Constantinople painted their fingernails to show their political persuasions! A coalition of Blues and Greens in A. D. 532 gave Emperor Justinian I enormous trouble.

Political trinketry in America was not ignored by even the most visionary of Founding Fathers.

George Washington gave out locketlike pins with a picture of himself on the front and a mirror in back. Worn by ladies around their necks, they could turn the gadget around to use the mirror when a curl popped out of place.

Gay blades wore buttons initialed GW.

Early political insignia in the United States were made of brass, silver, lead, wood, and bone. Holes were bored in some so they could be suspended from a watch fob. Others displayed a "plank" from the candidate's platform.

Celluloid buttons, precursors of today's metal and plastic disks, appeared in 1892. Since then, the low cost and mass distribution of such emblems—over 200 million in the 1960 election—has popularized the phrase, "Buttonholing the voter."

Almost anything that could possibly endear a candidate's name and face to the public has been dispensed—arm bands, hatpins, socks, neckties, canes, parasols, thimbles, pencils, plates, decanters, matches, marching costumes, and bumper stickers which defy all efforts to remove them.

Button collectors have formed a society—the American Political Item Collectors Association—for serious study of the deep-dyed tradition. One member recently turned over 20,000 items to the Smithsonian Institution!

Political insignia are apparently more than a colorfully casual propaganda gimmick. "A button has a magical character, like an Indian's warpaint," observed Dr. Emil A. Guthrie, editor of the American Journal of Psychotherapy. "By wearing it, a person rallies his friends and frightens his foes."

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

H. F. Smith

Soil Conservation Service

George Newton has repaired a sod waterway on his farm near Hickman. He filled and seeded eroded areas without disturbing the grass in place. Repairs should be made as soon as possible after the damage is done.

Ditches have to be maintained just the same as the roof on your house has to be repaired. M. B. Major has been spraying willows in one of his ditches in the upper bottom. Ditches cannot function when full of brush. J. A. Lattus hired a dragline to dip out the willows and silt that had accumulated in one of his ditches.

Conservation farming is becoming a way of life in America. Nearly two million farmers have switched to conservation farming during the past 25 years, but few of them did it all at once. Instead, they changed in easy steps, usually one step at a time. It's easier that way and a lot better all around. What step do you plan to take in 1963?

DID YOU KNOW . . .

that arson is the most serious crime on our statutes next to murder, and causes greater loss of life and destruction of property than ANY other crime?

Gov. Bert Combs inspects one of a dozen corn shuck dolls presented to him by Mrs. Ruth Carr, right, director of Carr's Cabin Crafts, Chenoa, and T. H. Broecker, left, chairman of the board of The Klarer Co., Louisville. Klarer is using the dolls, produced in Kentucky's handcraft program, as a sales premium with the purchase of certain meat products. Included in the gaily outfitted collection are Mary Todd Lincoln, Daniel Boone, Chief War Eagle, Jim Porter and Davy Crockett.

Bookkeeping Class To Be Sponsored By Fulton B&PW

The Fulton-South Fulton Business & Professional Women's Club will sponsor classes in "Record Keeping For Small Businesses" for anyone desiring to take the course. Classes will be taught by Glen I. Clayton, who is associated with Schuette & Taylor, an accounting firm in Paducah.

Classes will meet one night a week for ten weeks. The fee will be $6.00, this to cover the cost of text book.

The instructions will be in basic bookkeeping and will deal with financial statements, Social Security records, with-holding tax records, journals, ledgers, and profit and loss statements. This course comes under Distributive Education, financed through state and federal money, appropriated for vocational education, and is being offered by Tishman Area Vocational Trade School under that plan.

Anyone desiring to take the course, contact members of the B&PW Club or the Chamber of Commerce promptly, so that meeting can be held and starting date determined. It is desired to start classes as soon as possible.

Bulldogs Swamp Providence And Red Devils Outfight Sharon, Tennessee

The twin-cities two fine high school football teams continued to roll along their winning ways last Friday night, as Fulton overwhelmed their Providence foes, 54-13, and South Fulton downed a determined Sharon team, 14-7. It was an exciting game for the overflow crowd at Memorial Stadium who watched the Fulton High Homecoming activities. In honor of their lovely and petite Homecoming Queen, Sandra Cash, the Bulldogs scored three touchdowns in the first quarter, two in the second quarter, one in the third quarter, and two in the fourth and final quarter. The two Providence tallies came in the second half.

Making the Fulton scores were Terry Beadles (3), Kenneth Allen (2), Don Burnette, Tommy Powell and Johnny Covington. Burnette kicked two of the extra points and Covington took a pass from Beadles for another. South Fulton's Red Devils took their fourth straight victory with a 10-yard run by half back Gene Hardy in the final minutes of the game at Sharon. Gary Wayne Isbell scored the first South Fulton TD in the second period. Gene Hardy and Clayburn Peoples made the extra points.

The undefeated Bulldogs take on another powerful and also undefeated team, Murray High, Friday night at Memorial Stadium. This is one of the most important games in the Western Kentucky area for the week.

The South Fulton team travels to Alamo, Tennessee, Friday night, looking for their fifth in a row.

ton. They moved here recently from Mayfield, where Mrs. Hughes returns daily to work. The children are David, 12, Jerry, 10, and Judy, 15. They are members of the Baptist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Worley, formerly of Union City, Tennessee, helped increase the Fulton population when they moved themselves and their five children to their new home on 508 West State Line early this summer. Mr. Worley is employed at the Brown Shoe Company in Union City. The children are Danny, 15, David, 13, Arthur, 11, Judy, 12, and Kathy, 6. David is an active Little Leaguer and his father has been a team manager in Union City.

The Reuben Moody family moved here from sunny Florida, making the move in July. They are originally from Murray, Kentucky. He is employed by Southern Bell Telephone. They have two children, Steve, 13, and Susan, 10. They are living at 108 Cleveland in Fulton.

A Friendly Finance employee, Charles Crabtree moved his family here from Hopkinsville during the early days of summer. They are Baptist and have three children, Cathay, 10, Chryl, 6, and Rodney Lynn, 19 months. They moved near another newcomer, the Cooks who were mentioned above, at 906 Walnut in Fulton.

Rev. and Mrs. John W. Piatt and their son, Clay, 15, have been in Fulton most of the summer. He is the new minister of the Episcopal Churches here and in Hickman. They are living on Jackson Street. Clay is a sophomore at Fulton High and is on the Bulldog football team.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerald E. Stewardson, 110 West State Line, are just out of college at Michigan State University. He is an employee of Swift and Company of Fulton. She is a native of Virginia and he comes from near Chicago. They have no children.

To these and all the other new arrivals to the Fulton-South Fulton area we would like to extend a hearty Welcome. We know that each new family who comes here helps to enrich the community and the lives of those who live here. We hope that they will make Fulton their home for a long, long time.

Local Salesman Escapes Injury In Car Wreck

J. D. Prince, Bennett Electric salesman, narrowly escaped injury last Thursday morning in an accident on the Union City Highway, near the Southway Restaurant.

According to Mr. Prince, he was driving north on Highway 51, enroute to work in Fulton, when he started to pass a pick-up truck driven by a Mr. Dawes of Union City. The truck turned into the Restaurant driveway, striking the Prince car in the side and forcing it off the road.

Neither driver was injured but the Prince car was badly damaged.

Though only 22 per cent of the nation's 21,000 veterinarians have exclusively pet practices, these specialists earn 45 per cent ($80 million) of the entire income in the field.

Why are Americans spending at a record rate for their pets? Says an official of the American Veterinary Medical Association:

"People are more knowledgeable about their pets today. They know about medical care available and want to take advantage of it. When people drove Model T's, they made repairs themselves; not so today. It's the same with pet owners. They tend not to try to doctor a pet's illness, but go to a veterinarian."

The array of medical equipment and services available for Rover is impressive. Of course if his problem is more psychological than physical, a bracing ocean voyage might be the thing. One-way New York - to - London fare on the new luxury liner "France" is $50—for dogs.

Accessories Make News On Fall Fashion Scene

Accessories are big news on the fall fashion scene, according to Mrs. Verna McCuiston, UK Extension clothing specialist. The simplicity of many styles popular this fall often needs accent with accessories. Color in clothes is "quieter" this year, too, so many accessories are brighter.

Scarves have regained importance; you'll find many varieties, from small ascots to big, triangular shawls. Large scarves or fur in ascots or boas are especially popular when worn "muffled" at the throat for the "Mata Hari look" often seen in fall fashions.

Purses are smaller and softer, Mrs. McCuiston notes. Many have rigid handles. The shoulder bag is making a comeback with casual clothes. You'll find handbags for many moods, but classic good looks is the keynote. The refined look in purses is seen in leather, reptile, fabrics, tapestries, real or fake fur, and suede for better bags.

Since, smoother, more simple hair styles seem to be the trend, more women may be wearing hats this fall, she points out. Hat styles range from tall or large-brimmed to the head-hugging varieties similar to those worn in the 1930's. You'll see high crowns, betrons, toques, turbans, tams, and berets. Many are worn forward, although betrons are worn to the back while tams are placed to the back or side. Materials include beavers, velours, furs, fabrics, and many others. With such a wide choice, most women will be able to find a becoming style.

Boots and spats for casual wear are big fashion news in shoes, Mrs. McCuiston says. Materials range from fabrics and furs for boots and spats to leather, fabric and suede for other shoes. Fall shoe fashions continue to show much variety in shape and materials. Heels vary from low to high; but the needle-thin heel, so popular in recent years, seems on the way out. Toe shapes range from the very pointed to the squared, with the squared toe more popular for daytime wear.

Gloves will be shorter to meet the longer sleeves on many fall garments. In more expensive price ranges, you can find leather and suede, some cuffed in fur or trimmed with reptile or velvet to complete a costume. Fabric gloves, in misty and neutral colors and with discreet trimming, are the favorites.

Simplicity in garments makes a perfect background for elegance in jewelry. Elaborate pins, worn individually, are big news. You'll find fill-in necklaces—ropes, lariats, and V-line types. Bracelets also are important. As with all accessories, choose jewelry to suit you, your mood, your costume, and your pocketbook. Wear only what completes your costume, Mrs. McCuiston recommends.

A "Roman" Holiday

The first division of the Woodstock Stakes, at Woodbine this year, might be referred to as a sort of "Roman Holiday," and a horse named Roman Anna, on that day at least, might have been called "The noblest Roman of them all." Roman Anna was the winner over Roman Dipper with Bala Roman third and Burnt Roman fourth. Four non-Roman horses also ran. Roman, the horse responsible for this nominal domination of the Woodstock Stakes, was a good stakes winner in his racing days. In three seasons, during less lucrative years, 1939-41, he won 18 of 40 starts and $56,060. Roman was not the sire of the four "Romans" mentioned above, but three of them were sired by his sons, Roman Might, Roman Patrol and Roman Sandal, and the other one was out of a daughter of Roman. Consistently among the top 20 leading sires, Roman died in 1960 at the age of 29. His last crop of foals are now yearlings and through 1961, his get had won a total of $6,990,571. Last year, he had 42 winners, which won a total of 100 races and $354,558 and this season his son, Roman Line, was among the top 3-year-olds until he went wrong prior to the Belmont Stakes.

Unmarked Police Cars To Be Used In State To Help Curb Accidents

Gov. Bert Combs has called on the Department of Public Safety to use every available means in an effort to stem the tide of traffic fatalities in Kentucky.

Kentucky Safety Commissioner Glenn Lovern announced that the State Police will begin immediately to use all available unmarked State Police cars for daily traffic patrol to curb the mounting highway death toll. On Aug. 21, Kentucky traffic deaths exceeded the 500 mark.

The Governor commented on the stepped-up enforcement effort, "If this does not stop the killing of our people on Kentucky's highways, we will try something else."

Both Lovern and Col. David A. Espie, director of State Police, estimated that the number of arrests will increase considerably.

Lovern also issued a public appeal to the courts to cooperate by meting out stiff penalties to flagrant violators of traffic regulations. Lovern said he is confident that the needless loss of life on the highways can be substantially reduced as a result of enforcement officers and the courts carrying out their respective responsibilities.

According to Lovern, "The traffic death rate in Kentucky is appalling. Seventy-five more persons have been killed this year than at the same time last year. The unmarked State Police car is not new. Some states, notably Connecticut, use nothing but unmarked cars, and Connecticut enjoys one of the lowest traffic death rates in the country."

According to the magazine Police Chief, "The unmarked car has come to be accepted as an integral part of efficient police administrative technique. Safety has not become news in Connecticut. It has been made news!"

Espie said Connecticut has converted all State Police cars to regular unmarked automobiles. That State's entire 600-car fleet was stripped of all police identification. That unmarked car is not a cure-all, but it is a strong deterrent, an evidence of official concern, and a determination to correct a worsening situation," Espie added.

As an aid to the unmarked State Police cars, Highway Commissioner Henry Ward has agreed to erect signs along Kentucky's highways informing the motorist that the roads will be patrolled by unmarked automobiles.

Diary of Doin's

(Items gathered along Fulton's merryway for your pleasure and your scrapbook)

We have always heard that friendships made on board a sailing ship, or a long train ride, are friendships that last forever. But something new has been added to this category. A friendship that was made here, in the close confines of a hospital room, bids well to last until the end of time. It's an interesting story and one that could only happen in a small town and that small town is Fulton.

About two weeks ago, seventy-one year old Mrs. Leona Jeffress of near Fulton fell in her home and broke her arm. She was admitted to Hillview Hospital. The day after Mrs. Jeffress was admitted Mrs. Mattie Story, a fourth and fifth grade teacher in the Fulgham school was admitted for a seriously sprained ankle. Mrs. Story was admitted to the double-room in which Mrs. Jeffress was confined and it all started from there.

Mrs. Story, younger than Mrs. Jeffress, started doing little things for Mrs. Jeffress that the lovely lady could not do because of her broken arm and Mrs. Jeffress would do the walking around chores for Mrs. Story and it went on like that for two whole weeks.

Thursday of last week we got a call from a friend to go out and see the ladies and particularly to see all the cards and letters, flowers and gifts Mrs. Jeffress had received. Mrs. Story would get as excited as Mrs. Jeffress every time some remembrance would come and the thoughtful school teacher arranged all those cards around the room for all to see. We were so impressed with the happiness and good nature in that room that we did a little interviewing. Mrs. Story wanted Mrs. Jeffress to get all the attention so we plied her with questions.

Mrs. Jeffress is the mother of Mrs. Louise Leip of East State Line and of Roper Jeffress of State Line. She has five grandchildren and five great grandchildren and is as proud of all of them as proud can be. She lives all alone in her comfortable home near Fulton and what's more does all her work.

When she fell and broke her arm one of her children remarked at once: "Goodness, she's fallen from the hayloft." But Mrs. Jeffress didn't fall from the hayloft, which she visits daily in order to feed her cows. She slipped on a rug in her house that she says has been there forever, and yet she had an accident in such a simple way. The gracious lady, who said "everybody says I'm seventy-one, but I don't believe I am," sews all her clothes, does all her own cooking, tends to the garden she plants

Friends Forever!

It's a sure bet that Mrs. Leona Jeffress (left) and Mrs. Mattie Story will never forget their stay in the Hillview Hospital where they shared a room for nearly two weeks.

Miss McAlister Reveals Final Plans For Her Wedding To David Holland

On October 5 at 7 p. m. in the Water Valley Baptist Church, the Rev. Otis Schultz, pastor of the church, will perform the double-ring ceremony uniting Miss Sandra McAlister and David Holland.

Miss McAlister has chosen Miss Claudette Owen of Water Valley, Kentucky, as her maid of honor.

Billy Holland of Paducah will serve his brother as best man.

Michael McAlister, brother of the bride, and Gerald Greer, brother-in-law of the groom, will serve as ushers. Mrs. Milford Jobe will be the organist.

The bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Neal McAlister, will entertain with a reception at their home immediately following the ceremony.

No invitations are being sent but friends and relatives of both families are invited to attend.

herself and laughed heartily when asked if she was afraid to live alone. Indeed, she isn't, and she's going to be right sly when she leaves Dr. Ragsdale's sight. She told the doctor that she was going to her sister's (Mrs. Herman Harrison) for the convalescence period, but she added: "He's not going to know what I do when I leave here." We'll bet Mrs. Story does. . . . Mrs. Jeffress will get back to her home as soon as possible, a place where she has lived for more than forty years, and only one-fourth of a mile from where she was born.

The former Betty Lu Bushart and the former Kathryn Johnson were real good friends when both of them attended Fulton High School. Kathryn is now Mrs. Linn T. Briggs and lives in Baton Rouge, La. She was home on a saddened visit because of the death of her mother recently and came by the office to see us while she was home. She asked us if Betty Lu didn't live in Baton Rouge also and we told her she did, but we didn't know Betty Lu's married name or her address. We hope that Paul Bushart, the former owner of this paper and a subscriber, sees this item and arranges a meeting with the two friends. Betty Lu has a growing family and Kathryn has three girls and is making preparations for the early arrival of a son, she and Linn hope. So if the two girls get together we think we've done our good deed for this week.

The past week brought other welcome visitors to the News office. The Roy Maurers of Detroit, Michigan spent a pleasant time with us. They never fail to pay us a visit when they come this way. Roy says he's retiring the end of this month and we're somewhat apprehensive as to what he will do with all the energy he has. He reminded us that he and the late Smith Brown started out in the milk business together and that's been a long time ago. The single males. Add widowed and divorced and the state totals are 466,296 females, 333,239 males. These figures are for those 14 years of age and over.

Ralph Stroud was the guest of honor at a party Sunday on his sixth birthday. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Stroud, entertained his little friends at their home west of Fulton.

The lovely birthday cake featured a color scheme of blue. Cake, ice cream and soft drinks were served and each guest received a cellophane bag of bubble gum, suckers, balloons and tootsie rolls.

Those attending were: Vicki Bard, Wilma Cloys, Gwen Bowder, Debby Moss, Donna Rushing, Randy Rushing, Bobby Moss, Catherine and Ralph Stroud, Ginger Gilbert sent a gift but was unable to attend.

The Victory Homemakers Club had its first meeting of the new year on September 18 at the Methodist Church in Fulton. Miss Maude Morris was hostess to the twenty members and six visitors who were present.

Visitors were Miss Willie Crowe, Mrs. Harry Murphy, Mrs. Zell Clardy, Mrs. Hortense Johnston, Mrs. Will McDade and Mrs. Mary Ellen Mulcahy with Mrs. Mulcahy joining the club.

Mrs. Ernest Jenkins, the new president, presided with Mrs. Zoma Moss as secretary-treasurer. The program, "Growing Old With A Purpose" was presented by the leaders, Mrs. Lubie Howell and Mrs. Hiram Brown.

Refreshments were served following the business meeting.

Fulton Reservist Present At Meet Of Reserve Officers

Second Lieutenant Freeman Burnham Dallas, USA Infantry, of Fulton, was present at the Inter-allied Confederation of Reserve Officers which held its annual convention in Rome, Italy, last month.

He participated in a physical fitness program. There were more than 700 Reserve Officers of nine NATO nations participating in the convention.

Wilson Wyatt Seeks Unity In Campaign

The watchwords of the Democratic Party in Kentucky today were solidarity and victory.

They were on the tips of party leaders' tongues Friday night as Lt. Gov. Wilson Wyatt sounded the first official note in his campaign for the U. S. Senate.

"Victory is in the air," Wyatt told a crowd of about 9,000 persons who attended a fish fry at Miles Park. "Tonight we are all joining together—in unity—to fire the first shot heard 'round the state in the battle that will bring victory on Nov. 6th."

Wyatt opposes Sen. Thurston B. Morton, Republican incumbent, who opened his campaign in Somerset Sept. 8. Wyatt has spoken in all 120 counties in what he calls "pre-campaigning."

Gov. Bert Combs suggested the slogan: "Solidarity forever—unity makes us strong." It was taken from a labor union song.

"I suggest that we should forget our prefixes and factions and personal preferences—and all of us be just plain, unqualified, working Democrats from now until the November election," Combs said.

Former Gov. A. B. Chandler, a factional foe of Combs, was present, although he did not make a speech.

As he came in the gate, Chandler said, "It would be unusual if I were not here. I have never missed a Democratic opening in Kentucky that I can remember in 30 years."

Telegrams were sent by Rep. William Natcher, President Kennedy and others. Former Gov. Sen. Earle Clements was not present. Several of Kentucky's Democratic congressmen were on hand.

Combs described Morton as "a symbol of Republican conservatism with proven allegiance to a philosophy that would keep Kentucky from moving ahead."

"The other candidate is a symbol of a philosophy which—working cooperation with John F. Kennedy and a favorable national administration—will make it possible for Kentucky to provide to her citizens those things essential to move ahead in the age of space."

Wyatt, 56, said preparations must be made for the 21st century. Among things he suggested were development of water resources, federal aid to education, expanded scientific research and a better economy.

To stimulate the economy, he proposed jobs for all, a reduction in federal taxes and price supports for farmers. His platform also called for medical care for the aged and equal civil rights for all.

"My opponent has served for six years without action," Wyatt said.

"On Nov. 6th, the people of Kentucky will vote out of office the man who has forgotten them and their needs, and vote into office the man who can get the job done."

SENATOR MORTON'S POSITION ON MEDICAL CARE FOR THE AGED...

A better plan that really offers MEDICINE and CARE!

THE MORTON MEDICAL ASSISTANCE PLAN IS NOT COMPULSORY AND IS NOT AN AUTOMATIC TAX INCREASE ON THE WORKING PEOPLE OF AMERICA

It Provides:

- ★ ALL Health needs . . . not just a few.
- ★ CHOICE of coverage best suited to your needs.
- ★ Coverage for short-term sickness AND prolonged illness.
- ★ Financing by those with BEST ABILITY TO PAY.
- ★ VOLUNTARY participation with responsibility shared by individual, state and federal government.

THE MORTON PLAN IS A TRUE MEDICAL AND CARE PROGRAM . . .

whereas, Medicare, a highly publicized political program, is filled with false hope, rigid qualifications, and complete disregard of the individual's needs, rights and ability to pay. Medicare would immediately place an enormous additional Social Security tax on the payrolls of Americans who are working to support and educate their families against already heavily mounting tax burdens.

Senator Morton has constantly worked for a sound medical and care program for the aged since he first introduced such a program in the House in 1949.

"EQUAL SERVICE FOR ALL" is the theme of this emblem being placed on the dining room door of the new lodge at Carter Caves State Park by Gov. Bert Combs (left) and State Parks Commissioner Edward V. Fox. The emblem, prepared by the State's Human Rights Commission for voluntary display by restaurants and other businesses serving the public throughout Kentucky, will be placed at all State parks dining rooms. Galen Martin, commission director, pointed out that January 1963 will mark the 100th anniversary of the Emancipation Proclamation and that the emblem was prepared to tie in with the anniversary. The emblem is available from the Human Rights Commission, Capitol Annex, Frankfort, Ky.

Tomorrow-GO JET-SMOOTH CHEVROLET for '63

Cover this car's price tag and you might think it cost a thousand dollars more. It offers luxurious styling, extremely comfortable, spacious and silent interiors . . . plus ways to keep it looking and running like new when a lot of others have started to sag and sigh: a new way to flush and dry rocker panels under the doors of its Body by Fisher to guard against rusting . . . self-adjusting brakes . . . Delcotron generator for longer battery life. If you ever wondered why Chevrolet leads its field, a drive in this '63 should answer all your questions.

'63 CHEVY II NOVA SPORT COUPE

Hard as it may be to believe, this year's Chevy II is better, better than last year's and better than anything in its class. It combines the new easy-care features of the big Chevrolet with its own wonderful attributes of parkable size, four- or six-cylinder fuel economy and interiors that would do justice to cars that cost twice as much.

'63 CORVAIR MONZA CONVERTIBLE

Change it? Calm yourself, nobody's going to mess with a winner like this one! We did add self-adjusting brakes and a fully aluminized muffler; interiors are refined a bit, and you'll notice some trim changes, but the rest is pure untampered-with Corvair. Oh yes, we changed the taillights so all those people you pass will know you're driving a '63.
